THE CONFERENCE BOARD

HEALTH & SAFETY LEADERSHIP ACADEMY

Accelerate your thinking. Expand your leadership. Elevate your career.

The role of health and safety professionals has expanded dramatically from its origins in industrial accident prevention. Today's H&S function is deeply involved in risk management and organisational culture. The Conference Board Health & Safety Leadership Academy is aimed at health and safety professionals looking to influence leadership to create a strong corporate health and safety vision. Small classes, personal mentors, and face-to-face and virtual meetings over several months will also help participants learn how to energise commitment and involvement and set the stage for rolling out an effective health and safety improvement effort.

Benefits of attending

Participants develop models and a personal action plan to implement on completion of the programme. They develop the skills to:

Prioritise workplace health and safety as a strategic goal for the organisation

Provide overall leadership in workplace health and safety in greater coordination with stakeholders

Develop a long-term plan and provide leadership for a culture of safety

Align and integrate health and safety with business strategy

Who should attend?

- Health and safety directors, leaders, and managers, ideally those who are managing a health and safety department at least at the local level
- Senior health and safety professionals and other functional heads
- Organisational leaders and those responsible for health and safety
- High-potential and high-performing health and safety practitioners

Upcoming meetings in Brussels:

Academy Cohort C, 2014
15-17 October
