

Access to Experts

Lieutenant General Benjamin C. Freakley
U.S. Army

General Benjamin Freakley assumed command of U.S. Army Accessions Command, Fort Monroe, Virginia, on 18 May 2007. He is responsible for meeting accessions goals for officer and enlisted personnel, managing and conducting recruiting operations, developing accessions policy, developing direct commission and appointment policy, and overseeing accessions programs. On 27 May 2010, General Freakley took command at Fort Knox, as U.S. Army Accessions Command assumed the role of senior mission command of Fort Knox and established the Human Resources Center of Excellence. General Freakley graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1975. He has a Master of Military Arts and Science Degree in Operations. His military schooling includes the Infantry Officer Basic and Advanced Courses, British Long Armor/Infantry Course, U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, School of Advanced Military Studies, and the Army War College.

Contact Carol Courter, Manager, Corporate Communications, +1 212 339 0232, courter@conferenceboard.org

The Conference Board is a global, independent business membership and research association working in the public interest. Our mission is unique: to provide the world's leading organizations with the practical knowledge they need to improve their performance and better serve society. The Conference Board is a non-advocacy, not-for-profit entity holding 501 (c)(3) tax-exempt status in the United States of America.

www.conference-board.org