

Camilla Andretta

Former Research Associate, Human Capital Center, Europe
The Conference Board

The following is a bio of a former employee/consultant.

Camilla Andretta is a Former Research Associate in Human Capital at The Conference Board Europe. She supports various projects in the area of future of work and future of HR.

Prior to joining The Conference Board, Camilla worked as a research assistant at the University of Milan, and she collaborated with the OECD as external consultant.

Camilla received her master's degree in economics and political science from the University of Milan in 2019.

Publications by Camilla Andretta

Articles

- Revitalizing Corporate Purpose Through Employee Crowdsourcing
04 April, 2023
- The Need for a More Agile Approach to Performance Management
02 March, 2023

Reports

- Leveraging a Multigenerational Workforce to Enhance Business Performance
19 February, 2024
- Employee Financial Well-Being: More Than a Benefit
06 December, 2023
- A Hot Labor Market in a Chilling Economy
31 October, 2023
- The Voice of Gen Z in Europe
06 July, 2023
- Investing in Productivity to Overcome the Tight Labor Market
14 April, 2023
- Competing for Gen Z Workers—Europe's Smallest Talent Pool
05 April, 2023
- Transitioning to a Skills-Based Organization: First Steps \(Part 3\)
15 February, 2023
- Latest Trends in Performance Management—A Literature Review of Innovative Ideas
16 November, 2022
- Transitioning to a Skills-Based Organization: First Steps \(Part 2\)
31 October, 2022
- Don't Let Recession Affect Your DEI Efforts
20 October, 2022
- Next Generation HR 2022: Realigning HR's Priorities to Deliver Business Impact
12 October, 2022
- European Employment Soars to Record Level Despite Looming Recession
04 October, 2022
- Transitioning to a Skills-Based Organization: First Steps \(Overview\)
13 September, 2022
- Future-scape: Reimagining the Who, What, How, Where of Work
30 March, 2022