

Sami Fishbein

Sr. Manager
FreshlyWell

7:48 Sami Fishbein has been in the food tech space for a handful of years now beginning her career in consulting at Oracle and then pivoting to sweetgreen as a founding member of the sweetgreen outpost team. There she worked with enterprise level organizations to bring fresh good-for-you food on site to enhance the employee experience. Over a year ago Sami joined the FreshlyWell team to build out the business development aspects and go to market strategy. Her focus is consulting with large enterprise organizations including health care systems, higher education, consulting groups and more to bring the convenience of Freshly to customers both at home and on site.
