

Matt Eurey

EVP & GM, Enterprise and Strategic Solutions
Accolade

At Accolade, Matt Eurey oversees customer partnerships, sales, support and service for the company's largest employers, while setting strategy and managing relationships with employers, health plans and industry consultants. With his leadership, Accolade develops sales and support strategies designed to retain and expand relationships with existing customers, health plans and consultants. These strategies include introducing new population health services and solutions that support changing employer populations and business goals.