

Chris DeStasio

Senior Analytic Advisor
Merative

Chris DeStasio is a senior advisor in Merative's Applied Analytics & Consulting practice. He works primarily with employers on analysis that integrates medical and pharmacy claims with multiple facets of health and wellbeing data to measure financial and clinical trends, gauge plan performance, assess population health, and identify opportunities for strategic intervention. Chris's areas of focus include the role of employers in addressing the global mental health crisis and the use of claim data to expose health disparities in commercially insured populations.