

Katie Lynch

CEO/Founder
ApiaryLife

Katie Lynch is a former attorney and the Founder and CEO of Apiary Life. She leads the company in revolutionizing work-life support by providing tech-enabled, personalized, and expert-led assistance to employees during major life events and transitions. Her experience as a family lawyer in one of the UK's top law firms in London exposed her to the significant challenges professionals face when dealing with personal crises, inspiring her to create better support systems. Katie is passionate about helping individuals maintain their professional success while managing personal changes. She graduated from Trinity College Dublin and completed her Diploma in Law in London.
