

Steve Roycroft

Chief Executive Officer
RANE

Steve Roycroft is the Chief Executive Officer of RANE. He is an accomplished business leader with over 20 years of operating experience that ranges from launching start-ups to running multi-billion dollar global enterprises. These include building and commercializing businesses in the Financial Services, GRC, Technology, Healthcare, and Media industries.

Earlier in his career, Steve led the sales and commercial efforts for CCBN (Corporate Communications Broadcast Network), a pioneering network-based financial information and technology company. After seven years of rapid growth, CCBN was successfully sold to Thomson Reuters and became part of its Corporate Services division. Over the next eight years, Steve led this division serving as the Global Managing Director. During that period, the business substantially scaled to serve more than 7,000 companies globally with information and workflow solutions for finance, compliance, research and communication professionals. Steve then went on to lead the day-to-day operations of inVentiv Health Commercial, a diversified information, technology, and services company serving the global life sciences and healthcare sectors. With over 13,000 employees inVentiv is a market leader in providing drug development support services and all aspects of commercializing brands for the pharmaceutical industry.

He currently serves as a senior advisor and board member at FRT-Financial Recovery Technologies and Smarsh Inc. Steve is a graduate from Stonehill College with a B.S. in Business Administration.
