

Dennis Sullivan

Strategic Account Manager
Spring Health

Dennis Sullivan joins Spring Health with a Bachelor's in Marketing and Accounting, and a Master's in Innovation and Entrepreneurship from Copenhagen Business School.

With over a decade of experience, he has collaborated with Fortune 100 companies, large government agencies, and major nonprofits across diverse industries, driving growth through process improvement, strategic partnerships, and relationship management.

Dennis has led global employee engagement campaigns for some of the world's largest companies in retail, manufacturing, technology, healthcare, and finance. As a Strategic Account Manager at Spring Health, he oversees a portfolio of key enterprise clients, serving as the main point of contact and coordinating with internal teams.

Passionate about improving mental health outcomes, Dennis is dedicated to fostering successful long-term partnerships with you and your employees. Outside of work, he enjoys discovering new restaurants, traveling, hiking, and cultivating a plant jungle in his apartment.
