Director of Learning and Development
Stoneridge Software

I am a learning engineer with a contagious passion for equity and justice. I've been in the Learning & Development space for over 10 years, certified in a variety of facilitative practices including virtual spaces, FranklinCovey courses, Culture assessing, and Diversity-to-Belonging. My superpower is developing purposeful and meaningful connections with others through empathy; meeting folks where they are on their journey and helping them uncover the inclusive behaviors that we humans have innately.
