

Jeff Scott

Global Head, Benefits & Wellness
BMO Bank

Throughout his almost 27 year career at BMO Jeff has been known as a fixer, a change agent who has led enterprise change initiatives and refined North American operations in diverse areas such as technology development, procurement, learning, talent acquisition and now benefits and wellness. As Global Head, Benefits and Wellness at BMO Jeff is leading a transformation and integration agenda aiming to Boldly Grow the Good in the lives of BMO's employees by delivering benefits and wellness programming that meet evolving needs with inclusive, flexible and digitally enabled offerings that prioritize mental, physical, social and financial health. Jeff is passionate about disrupting the status quo, loves to ask the question “Why not?”, apply a little common sense and bring everyone along for the ride.
