

Jennifer Frasier

Chief Inclusion & Diversity Officer
FIS Global

Jennifer Frasier is a seasoned HR professional with 25 years of experience within the technology, hospitality, healthcare, waste management and professional services industries.

Over the course of her career, Jennifer has held a number of HR generalist and Inclusion & Diversity specialist roles of progressive global responsibility. She currently serves as the first leader of Inclusion & Diversity for FIS, the world's largest provider dedicated to financial technology solutions. In her role, she is responsible for developing and leading the company's strategy to leverage inclusion and diversity as a change agent to respond to ever-evolving and complex global dynamics and to drive positive bottom-line impact. Prior to FIS, she worked in I&D roles at Marsh & McLennan Companies and Mercer.

Jennifer has a M.S. in Industrial and Organization Psychology from University of Tennessee.

Jennifer currently resides in Atlanta, GA, with her son, Jackson, and her pet Corgi, Ella. Jennifer is an avid traveler as part of her own diversity awareness and education journey as well as an embarrassingly over-enthusiastic soccer (football) mom.
