

Lindsay Flader

Senior Manager, Content Marketing
Calm

Lindsay Flader is the Senior Manager of Content Marketing at Calm, where she is focused on providing meaningful products and support resources to leaders who are looking to prioritize a preventive mental health strategy at their organizations. Prior to joining the company in 2022, Lindsay spent 17 years working in media, producing award-winning content for both television and digital platforms. As a versatile, experienced media professional, she is passionate about innovative storytelling and creating meaningful content that inspires, informs, and entertains.