

Lisa O'Donnell

Senior Director – AI & Learning Innovation
KPMG US

Lisa has spent the last 13 years fostering innovation in Instructional Design at KPMG, both in the US and in Global L&D. Her groundbreaking work in pioneering KPMG's utilization of GenAI in Learning & Development is just one example of her many contributions to driving innovation within the firm.

Widely recognized as a leading expert and trusted advisor, Lisa regularly collaborates with business and learning leaders on topics such as adult learning theory, learning technologies, and the strategic benefits of a robust learning strategy that aligns with business objectives. As the driving force behind AI Learning initiatives, Lisa is responsible for upskilling the workforce to effectively and responsibly leverage AI and Generative AI. With an unwavering passion for all things learning, she tirelessly advocates for the implementation of learning solutions that meet both business and learner aspirations.