Rebekah Steele
Senior Fellow, Human Capital
The Conference Board

Rebekah Steele is a senior fellow providing diversity & inclusion (D&I) expertise for The Conference Board. She serves as program director for both the Diversity & Inclusion Executives and the Diversity & Inclusion Leaders Councils, curates diversity and inclusion conferences of The Conference Board, writes for The Conference Board Human Capital Exchange[™], and supports a broad spectrum of diversity and inclusion initiatives.

When leaders are not achieving results that matter in the things they care about most, Rebekah Steele | Diversity Breakthroughs helps them design new, inclusive ways of working with a broad mix of people. Steele's contemporary approaches to diversity and inclusion bring better outcomes to life by enabling, enhancing, and accelerating the results that diversity and inclusion leaders and their organizations must achieve.

Breaking free from traditional ways of working in D&I, Steele performs a range of breakthrough engagements contributing to the evolution of the global practice of diversity and inclusion. Working across six continents, she designs system-wide strategies, facilitates innovation labs, catalyzes systemic transformations, teaches, speaks, coaches, writes, and more.

In the first 20 years of her career, Steele launched and led global and local diversity and inclusion strategies in numerous organizations including Amoco, AlliedSignal, Honeywell, and BlackBerry. Learn more at www.rebekahsteele.com.
