

David Suarez

co-founder and co-Chief Creative Officer
Bandits & Friends

David Suarez is a co-founder and co-Chief Creative Officer of the ad agency Bandits & Friends, Ad Age's 2025 Newcomer Agency of the Year.

With over two decades in the industry, David has built a reputation for making the mundane famous, uncovering razor-sharp insights, and revealing the unique humanity behind every brand he touches. He champions a collaborative, “group run” approach to creative work and believes unwaveringly that entertainment value is a prerequisite for effectiveness.

David’s work has been recognized by every major advertising award show, including Adweek Creative 100, Cannes Lions, The One Show, D&AD, Effie, Webby, Clios, Andy, Art Directors Club, AICP, Radio Mercury—and, importantly, by his parents, who think he’s just the best.