

Angelika Inglsperger

Group Head People and Strategy
Allianz

Angelika Inglsperger is Group Head of People and Strategy at Allianz, where she leads the company's global people strategy, including talent management, employer branding, recruiting, diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI), and employee engagement. She is recognized for driving Allianz's people transformation, organizational culture, and future-of-work initiatives across the global organization.