Rovi Health

Santosh Vallabhaneni is the CEO and Co-Founder of Rovi Health, a care orchestration platform that gives every member a dedicated clinician accountable for managing their end-to-end care journey. Rovi uses clinical data to identify care needs early, assembles the right mix of high-quality providers and point solutions, and manages the pathway to better outcomes at a lower total cost.

Before founding Rovi, Santosh served as GM of affordability solutions at Cedar, where he helped large health systems better engage and support their Medicaid populations. Prior to that, he was an early employee at AngelList and led their client management team.
