Joey Nedland

Director of Commercial Excellence
Valence

Joey Nedland is an enterprise growth and strategy leader who serves as the Director of Commercial Excellence at Valence, a venture-backed technology platform specializing in AI-driven professional coaching. He has spent his career driving scale and strategic operations, with a strong background in tech-enabled workforce management, corporate consulting at Bain & Company, and high-impact social responsibility initiatives. At Valence, he helps spearhead the go-to-market engine for the company's enterprise scaling and the commercial expansion of their digital AI executive coach, Nadia.

We're working to get you the session title and abstract ASAP. We're also working to confirm a client speaker to join Joey and will share their details as soon as we have them!