Andrew Frank

Regional Director of Sales
Healthee

Andrew Frank serves as Regional Director of Sales at Healthee, where he brings a deeply personal perspective to the problem of benefits navigation. A former active duty Army Officer, Andrew spent six years in uniform before transitioning to the civilian workforce — experiencing firsthand the confusion that comes with choosing the right health plan and knowing where to turn for care. That journey led him to the benefits space, where he is bringing Healthee's AI-powered platform to organizations whose employees deserve the same clarity and confidence in their benefits that too many people — including himself — had to learn the hard way.