Amy Davis currently serves as Division Chair of Communications for Mayo Clinic, guiding the organization's communications strategy, execution and performance in order to drive Mayo Clinic's strategic plan and outcomes. With a team across Arizona, Florida and the Upper Midwest, Ms. Davis provides oversight to Mayo Clinic's media relations, owned and social media, crisis and issues communications, staff engagement communications and client services communications functions. Ms. Davis speaks and writes on the topics of corporate communications, internal branding and employee engagement. She is a member of Arthur Page Society, Public Relations Society of America, International Association of Business Communicators and serves on the executive committee for the Conference Board's Corporate Communications Council and PRSA's Health Academy.

Ms. Davis also serves as a board member for the Reading Center in Rochester, Minn., an organization committed to serving individuals with dyslexia and increasing literacy. Ms. Davis strives to balance her work and personal life, as she and her husband have two teenage boys and a gregarious yellow Labrador retriever.
