

Access to Experts

Emily Lawson, Ph.D.
Partner, London Office
McKinsey and Company

Emily Lawson, PhD, is a partner in the London office of McKinsey and Company. Lawson is a leader of the firm's service on human capital management. She serves clients across a range of industries, including pharmaceuticals, telecommunications, financial services, and professional services, with a focus on change management—aligning and engaging the organization in delivering new strategies and substantive performance improvements.

Lawson leads McKinsey's work on gender diversity and was an author of Women Matter Five: Making the Breakthrough. She is part of the leadership team for McKinsey's internal leadership development offering. Lawson holds an MBA from the Said Business School, Oxford, a doctorate from University of East Anglia (UK), and a master's degree from Cambridge University.

Contact Carol Courter, Manager, Corporate Communications, +1 212 339 0232, courter@conferenceboard.org

The Conference Board is a global, independent business membership and research association working in the public interest. Our mission is unique: to provide the world's leading organizations with the practical knowledge they need to improve their performance and better serve society. The Conference Board is a non-advocacy, not-for-profit entity holding 501 (c)(3) tax-exempt status in the United States of America.

www.conference-board.org

Publications by Emily Lawson, Ph.D.

Research Report

- The State of Human Capital 2012: False Summit
15 October, 2012