

Anne Mulcahy

Former Chairman and CEO
Xerox Corporation

A 30-year veteran of Xerox who led the company through a massive transformation - reinventing Xerox into an innovative technology and services enterprise while serving as Chairman and CEO (2001-2010). Responsible for an aggressive multibillion-dollar turnaround plan that returned Xerox to profitability and growth through relentless focus on helping businesses deploy smarter document management strategies that deliver better ways to work. Career at Xerox began as a field sales representative in 1976, followed by increasingly responsible senior management positions. Appointed Chief of Staff in 1997 and General Markets President in 1999.

Currently serving on the Johnson & Johnson board, having been lead director from 2012 to 2024. Chair of Graham Holdings and chair of the compensation committee. Board member of LPL Financial and chair of the nom & gov committee. Previous board service includes Target and Citigroup.

In the non-profit sector, Chair Emeritus of Save the Children and Chair of The Nature Conservancy of Connecticut —currently an Executive in Residence at Harvard University.