

Access to Experts

Andrea Lewis
Chief Diversity and Inclusion Officer
BAE Systems, Inc.

Andrea is the Chief Diversity and Inclusion Officer for BAE Systems, Inc., responsible for designing and executing a strategy to foster a diverse, inclusive, high-performing workplace. She leads culture transformation, workforce engagement, and leadership initiatives to create and retain a diverse workforce. Andrea joined BAE Systems, Inc. in 2008 in the role of Director, Talent and Leadership Development within the Land and Armaments Sector, where she was responsible for all talent and leadership development as well as diversity efforts. Andrea has been in the talent, leadership and organization development field her entire career, starting out at the United States National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), and holding progressively responsible positions in a variety of industries (including Freddie Mac, a mortgage and financial services company, and Digene, a biotechnology company dedicated to women's health), as well as in small and large consulting firms. She has authored several articles and presented at conferences on the topics of women and leadership, career development and talent management. Andrea earned a BA from Brandeis University and a Master's and Ph.D. in Industrial/Organizational Psychology from George Washington University.

Contact Carol Courter, Manager, Corporate Communications, +1 212 339 0232, courter@conferenceboard.org

The Conference Board is a global, independent business membership and research association working in the public interest. Our mission is unique: to provide the world's leading organizations with the practical knowledge they need to improve their performance and better serve society. The Conference Board is a non-advocacy, not-for-profit entity holding 501 (c)(3) tax-exempt status in the United States of America.

www.conference-board.org