

Neil McPherson

Council Director, Global Pensions & Benefits Council
The Conference Board
Senior Advisor
The ESG Foundation

Neil joined Capital Cranfield in August 2014 as Managing Director and a member of the company's board. Neil is responsible for Capital Cranfield's commercial, operational and business development activities.

Neil has extensive commercial and fiduciary experience working with pension funds over a 30 year career. At Citigroup, he established Citigroup Asset Management's European Retirement Services business and was a trustee of the UK pension scheme, where he chaired the investment committee. At Standard Life plc, he set up Standard Life Investments' European client business and was Director of Group Relationship Management.

Neil acted as independent chairman of the Kosovo Pension Savings Trust for seven years from its inception and was a member of the Expert Group on Russian Pension Reform. He also acts as the Council Director for The Conference Board's Global Pensions and Benefits Council, a pan-European group of multinational corporate pension funds executives.

Neil holds a degree in Modern History from Oxford University.
