Susan Stewart
Senior Publishing Writer

Susan Stewart, senior publishing writer at The Conference Board, leads a team of content creators who report on TCB conferences, seminars, and other meetings; extract insights from existing research for social media broadcast; and write a wide range of research and professional pieces. Her team supports organization-wide marketing efforts through copy writing and idea development. Stewart has written reports for The Conference Board on subjects ranging from knowledge transfer (Capturing Butterflies) to the future of the global workforce in the face of the technology revolution (Is This the End of Work?).

Stewart is an acclaimed columnist and writer for major US newspapers and magazines including the New York Times. From 1995-2006 she was a television critic for TV Guide magazine and the author of the weekly column "Susan Stewart's Hits & Misses." She was a feature columnist for the Detroit Free Press, Atlanta Journal-Constitution, and the Philadelphia Daily News, interviewing scores of celebrities and writing about everything from presidential politics to the deeply personal. Stewart is a recipient of numerous awards and an emeritus board member of the George Foster Peabody Awards in Broadcasting. Her work has appeared in Southern Living, GQ, Ladies' Home Journal, Us, Parenting, and Entertainment Weekly.

Stewart holds a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Georgia and a master's degree in English from the University of Virginia.
