

Jane Edison Stevenson

Vice Chair, Board & CEO Services
Korn Ferry International

Jane Edison Stevenson leads Korn Ferry's Global CEO Succession Practice and regularly serves Fortune 500 clients and high-growth companies on C-suite succession, top team effectiveness, and innovation leadership issues. She has been acknowledged by BusinessWeek as one of the “100 Most Influential Search Consultants in the World.”

A thought leader on governance and innovation, Jane has appeared in numerous media outlets globally including BusinessWeek, Fortune, Bloomberg, Reuters, The Wall Street Journal, Innovation Excellence, Leader's Edge, and Strategy+Business. Jane is also an accomplished public speaker for Fortune 500 clients and at select venues including: The Detroit Economic Club, The Simmons Leadership Conference, The US Department of Treasury, The World Summit on Innovation, NACD, and ODX.

Jane co-authored the best-selling business book, Breaking Away: How Great Leaders Create Innovation that Drives Sustainable Growth—And Why Others Fail (McGraw Hill 2011), which is now available in the USA, Canada, The United Kingdom, Turkey, and China, and will soon be expanding to Latin America. She is a recent recipient of the prestigious Maurice Holland Award for her writing on innovation.