Arie Y. Lewin

Arie Y. Lewin is professor of strategy and international business at Duke University, Fuqua School of Business and director of the Center for International Business Education and Research (CIBER). He is a fellow of the Academy of International Business. The Organization Management and Theory Division of the Academy of Management awarded him the first Trail Blazer award at its 2008 Annual Meeting. Mr. Lewin is visiting research professor at IESE (2005–2008) and RSM Erasmus University (1998–), where he is also ERIM Senior Fellow. He was editor in chief of the Journal of International Business Studies (JIBS) from 2002 to 2007, founding editor in chief of Organization Science from 1989 to 1998, and convener of the acclaimed Organization Science Winter Conference (1994–). His research interests center on strategic renewal of organizations encompassing studies of adaptation and selection as co-evolutionary systems, the emergence of new organizational forms, and adaptive capabilities that distinguish between innovating and imitating organizations. He is the Lead Principal Investigator for the multiyear international Offshoring Research Network (ORN) project. His current research focuses on the globalization of innovation.
