

Zachary Seavey

Director, Health and Benefits
Willis Towers Watson

Zachary Seavey is a Director of Health and Benefits for Willis Towers Watson. He is a strategic partner and trusted advisor to large, complex clients, like Nielsen, and supports the design and management of their health and benefits plans.

Zach has a focus on integrated wellbeing and digital health and speaks frequently at client forums and industry groups.

Zach holds a Bachelor degree from Dartmouth College.