Community and Networks Leader, Global Learning & Development
Microsoft

Erika Yuag has a mission: to empower others to achieve their greatest potential. Currently serving as the Communities and Networks Leader in Global Learning and Development at Microsoft, she leads an informal divergent change strategy designed to advance the cultural transformation of the company. Establishing a reputation as a "Challenger", Erika employs unorthodox and systemic approaches focused on collaborative learning, change intervention, empowerment, and leadership development.

On the personal front, Erika is a Silicon Valley native turned Washingtonian. She enjoys the performing arts, hiking, camping, experiences that make her uncomfortable, volunteering, and traveling the world.
