

Dan Cardinali

Dan Cardinali is president and CEO of Independent Sector, the only national membership organization that brings together nonprofits, foundations, and corporations seeking to advance the common good. Known for his commitment to performance management and measurable impact, Cardinali's work at Independent Sector is focused on empowering organizations to work collaboratively to improve life and the environment for individuals and communities around the world.