

Access to Experts

Courtney Rickert McCaffrey

Global Geostrategic Business Group Deputy Insights Leader
EY

As the Deputy Insights Leader for the EY Global Geostrategic Business Group, Courtney Rickert McCaffrey drives market-leading insight around geopolitics, corporate performance and political risk management.

Courtney is a recognized thought leader in political risk and global macro trends, with an emphasis on analyzing the strategic implications for companies.

In her previous role, Courtney managed a thought leadership program dedicated to helping business leaders better anticipate and plan for the future. She has also managed projects and advisory services at a leading political risk consultancy, priced political risk insurance, and worked on political campaigns.

Courtney earned a BA from Drake University and an MA from The Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS).