

Access to Experts

Randy Weiss
former Managing Director
The Conference Board

Randy Weiss formerly oversaw research projects at The Conference Board, which he joined in 2009. His tax policy work began with a stint (1977-89) at the Joint Committee on Taxation, which provides economic and legal analysis for the tax-writing committees of the Congress. As Deputy Chief of Staff, he served as the highest ranking staff economist for these committees and was a leading staff architect of the landmark Tax Reform Act of 1986. He next served as a tax principal at Deloitte & Touche, where he worked on various tax policy projects, including a comparative tax reform study for China's Finance Ministry and a 2001 reform of the Railroad Retirement system. In 2004, he became Chief Economist for New York City Economic Development Corporation, where he evaluated the economic and fiscal impact of citywide development initiatives and advised on business tax policies. He received his A.B. and Ph.D. degrees in economics from Harvard University and served on the faculty of the University of Maryland.

Contact Carol Courter, Manager, Corporate Communications, +1 212 339 0232, courter@conferenceboard.org

The Conference Board is a global, independent business membership and research association working in the public interest. Our mission is unique: to provide the world's leading organizations with the practical knowledge they need to improve their performance and better serve society. The Conference Board is a non-advocacy, not-for-profit entity holding 501 (c)(3) tax-exempt status in the United States of America.

www.conference-board.org

Publications by Randy Weiss

Economics Program Working Paper Series

- Impact of ICT on Production of Goods and Services: Who Captures the Benefits of ICT? The Case of Digital Books
12 July, 2011
- Impact of ICT on Production of Goods and Services: The Impact of ICT on the Geographic Distribution of Employment
12 July, 2011