

Kieran Fagan

Vice President, Communications
CVS Health

As Vice President of Communications at CVS Health, Kieran Fagan leads the teams responsible for the company's content strategy, digital and social media, and reputation research. Through two years of Covid, Kieran's worked with teams across CVS Health to communicate information about testing, vaccinations and other ways the company's been supporting millions across the country as we all navigate the challenges of the pandemic. He's spent most of his career in communications roles helping companies like CVS Health, Aetna, Novartis and BNY Mellon get through to people.