Anna Mok

Partner
Deloitte

Anna Mok is a senior partner at Deloitte with extensive experience in guiding multinational organizations and C-suite executives through complex transformation, growth, and governance challenges. Over more than three decades, she has held influential executive and board roles while advising some of Deloitte's largest and most respected global clients across technology, fintech, consumer, private equity, and healthcare and life sciences.

With professional experience spanning multiple continents, Anna brings a rare combination of international business acumen, cultural fluency, and strategic foresight. Her expertise extends across business strategy, AI and emerging technologies, digital and talent transformation, governance and risk management, cybersecurity, finance, M&A, and localization services. She is widely recognized for her ability to help organizations navigate disruption, accelerate innovation, and build resilient, future-ready operating models.

A natural collaborator and connector, Anna is deeply committed to building a more civil and inclusive society. She is passionate about expanding economic and educational access and champions the advancement of talent into senior executive and corporate board roles. Her leadership in corporate governance has earned her the National Association of Corporate Directors Directorship 100™ Award, along with recognition from the AICPA, Jefferson Awards, and other leading business and civic organizations.

As a changemaker, Anna has led governance transformation efforts as board chairperson for numerous organizations. She currently serves as President/Chairperson & Co-Founder of Ascend, Ascend Pinnacle, and the Ascend Foundation. Her board service also includes The Conference Board, Commonwealth Club of California, and Invest Ahead. She has additionally contributed her expertise to advisory councils and boards for The Coca-Cola Company, L'Oréal North America, MetLife, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and United Way

Bay Area.

Creative, curious, and future-focused, Anna is energized by exploring how technology and humanity can work together to build stronger communities and more innovative organizations. She enjoys designing public art, cultivating supportive networks, and discovering nature and cultures around the world.
