

Timothy Attebery, DSc, MBA, FACHE

Former CEO
American College of Cardiology

Dr. Tim Attebery serves as a consultant and strategic advisor to healthcare organizations including life-science and digital health companies, hospitals and health systems, medical groups, and other organizations. Before starting his own consulting firm, Dr. Attebery was the CEO of the American College of Cardiology and MedAxiom.He has a BS degree in Business Administration from Western Governors University; an MBA from the University of Tennessee Knoxville, Haslam College of Business; and a doctoral degree in healthcare leadership from the University of Alabama at Birmingham. He is a Fellow of, and board-certified in healthcare administration by, the American College of Healthcare Executives.