Who should attend

The Talent Acquisition and Onboarding conference is designed for Human Capital leaders at the Vice President and Director level with a focus in:

- Talent Acquisition
- Talent Management
- HR Generalist Roles
- Onboarding
- Engagement and Retention
- Employment Branding, Marketing, and Employee Value Proposition
Employee engagement begins with the first contact an individual has with a company. In most instances, this contact is through the recruitment process and continues through the employee’s onboarding experience.

As several studies indicate, up to 86 percent of new hires decide within the first six months of employment whether to leave a company. Today’s talent acquisition and onboarding leaders are uniquely positioned to impact employee engagement.

By delivering an authentic employment brand experience, ensuring a positive candidate experience and managing a successful transition from candidate to new hire to productive employee, talent acquisition and onboarding leaders can have a positive impact on business results.

Benefits of attending:

- Understand the impact talent acquisition and onboarding strategies have on employee engagement
- Walk away with ideas for building an engagement business case, getting your hiring managers embedded in the process, and creating a strong recruiting/onboarding partnership
- Ample time for sharing best practices and challenges with your peers from other top companies
- Understand the impact your employment brand and candidate experience have on company success
- Learn how data and analytics can improve your recruiting and onboarding programs

GENERAL SESSION F 4–5 PM
Kaiser’s Onboarding Margin™ Framework & Maturity Model, with a Case Study of NCR’s Journey to World-Class Onboarding
Participants will come away from this session not only with an understanding of Kaiser’s Onboarding Margin™ framework for driving onboarding excellence (with particular emphasis on levers to improve new hire readiness, productivity, and engagement), but also with the opportunity to assess their program’s maturity level against the stages of Kaiser’s Onboarding Maturity Model. Additionally, participants will hear directly from the onboarding program designers at NCR, a global leader in consumer transaction technologies, who are applying Onboarding Margin principles and improving the NCR candidate/new hire experience by focusing on critical “moments” spanning the talent acquisition and onboarding phases of new hires’ first year of employment.

From this session, participants will learn:
• A framework for integrating the components of World Class onboarding
• How to assess their organization’s current stage of Onboarding Maturity
• Perspectives on how one organization (NCR) is evolving its onboarding program along the Onboarding Maturity Curve
• Benefits of grounding the design of the candidate/new hire experience in the same principles as a company’s customer experience

Lilith Christiansen, Vice President, Kaiser Associates
Sarah Hagerman, Vice President, Kaiser Associates
Wendy Smith, Head of Onboarding, NCR
Kevin Finke, Transformation Catalyst, NCR

CONTINENTAL BREAKFAST  7:30–8:30 AM

WELCOME AND OPENING REMARKS  8:30–8:45 AM

GENERAL SESSION G  8:45–9:45 AM

Engaged Recruiters Create Engaged Employees
The first interaction a new hire has with a company is often with the recruiter. Yet, most companies have over-worked and under-appreciated recruiters making that connection. The average recruiter has between 8 and 12 different tools to manage in order to get the job done. The Recruiting Service Innovation Awards (ReSIs) were created to recognize those technology and service providers who create innovative solutions that increase recruiter efficiency and effectiveness, and thus a more engaged recruiter. Learn about the innovative companies that won ReSI awards in the inaugural year and the interesting insight uncovered through a survey of recruiters.

Peter Weddle, Executive Director, International Association of Employment Websites (the creator of the ReSI Awards)

REFRESHMENT/NETWORKING BREAK 9:45–10 AM

GENERAL SESSION H  10–11 AM

Roundtable Discussions and Report Out
Bring your new ideas to life. Select a table with your favorite topic from the conference and join fellow attendees for a best practice sharing session. A current member of the The Conference Board's Council of Talent Acquisition Executives, The Conference Board's Onboarding Talent Council, or one of our sponsors will lead each table discussion. Best practices from each table will be collected and distributed to all attendees.

GENERAL SESSION I  11AM–NOON

Future Trends in Talent Acquisition and Onboarding
A lively panel discussion about trends in labor markets, branding, technology, and assessment that will impact the future of talent acquisition and onboarding.

Panel Moderator:
Greg Karr, Executive Vice President, SevenStep RPO

Panelists:
Jenny DeVaughn, Sr. Director, Branding and Sourcing, ADP
Carolyn Doud, Executive Director, Talent Acquisition & Talent Management, Avon Products
