From Green to Machine: Are Boards Ready to Ride the AI Wave?

Updated 19 April 2024

The latest developments in AI will have a profound impact on business and society. They will also test companies’ and corporate boards’ ability to adapt to technological disruptions.

According to the annual C-Suite Outlook survey from The Conference Board, 32% of global CEOs—and 28% in the US—are focusing on accelerating digital transformation, including AI adoption. And further, CEOs across the private sector are now prioritizing digital transformation over focusing more on sustainability.
